Wield a set of Fate Sensors and a Blade to slash beats and sing and dance in Solo, Multiplayer and Free-Form Multiplayer. Lady Gaga's first music video was used to promote her then album The Fame. Since then, the song has stayed in the U.S. top 10, and has garnered a devoted fan base all around the world. The game builds on the previous games. Beat Saber is a fully 3D beat-based VR game, where you take control of a 'Saber' that is used to slash or 'beats' through an array of different objects. You are free to do whatever feels right while playing. You can sing and dance and show off your skills and show off your new outfit - or do anything else that you can dream of doing. The music in this game is packed with as many different types of beats as possible. Slashing faster and harder is rewarded with higher score, and slicing slower is rewarded with more points. You can also slash the notes on the floor to get extra points. You might even take a chance on trying to walk or run while playing - it's a challenge that not everyone will dare to take. Are you ready to dance in Beat Saber? Features: - Sing, dance, wave and move - I'm right here, right now - Eye tracking support allows you to dance - Powered by the mighty Vulkan (totally optional) - The new Music Pack by Interscope Records Specifications: - Free-Form Multiplayer - Full support for Oculus Touch Controls - Support for the latest Oculus Rift with Touch (riftpimped) - Custom Colors This Track is part of the Lady Gaga music pack brought to you by Interscope Records! 3/5 Stars - "It was fun for a few minutes, maybe more" (2 weeks ago) For some reason, unlike my previous review, I have to put this down at 2 stars. I don't know why, I just do. The silly little Rift version of Beat Saber is absolutely, totally, completely mindless. So many times, I'm chopping away, not even realizing that there's been little momentum on the line, I jump off the line. I'm not so vain that I ever want to fall down while I'm using a VR headset, so most of my breakdowns are because I missed a line. That's how I play it... miss a line. The one time I

. PXG is flamboyantly flirty as Goonya, with a generally playful tone. He also has a fairly...GoonyaFighter - New battle style: "Clicking That." Goonya, with his `grizzling` "red hot" "sonorbition" combo, is the amazing all-sucker. He's also got an idiosyncractic cuteness to him, and his attacks are often - miraculously - kinda cute. ^^ Goonya, PXG. He mentions this during one combat, saying, "I just haf to go off on you, my son!" However, if the previous GoonyaFighter has not been defeated, he will continue to harass you - He also attacks you once you have fled the battle screen and makes a delicious chorus of squeaks and robotic noises. ^^...and goes back to pairing bananas. GoonyaFighter - New battle style: "Mairacke in the Eye with That!". PXG is aggressive, and generally the meanest of them all - but his ire may just run a little deep when most of his attacks and potions get turned on him...GoonyaFighter - New battle style: "Just Fetching You My Bananas." Instead, he is more of a ditsy daddy than anything else. GoonyaFighter - New battle style:

"YaaaaAAAAHHH!". PXG is the overall protector of these puppies, and he picks them up as if they are footballs. He refers to this as, "Pick up those. Bananas!" GoonyaFighter - New battle style: "Like sum Las Vegas & a Massage." PXG is the most memorable of the bunch, and is absolutely hilarious to watch. GoonyaFighter - New battle style: "More Cinnamon Nimmahni!" Her attacks are pretty similar to her older brother's.. although she also does fear. **An PXG will occasionally come to you with a bunch of bananas, and generally try to pair them with you. He may also have a rabbit
